

Tribal Consultation

October 2016 Update

USDA Rural Development is required to contact tribes to satisfy Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 and consult on projects which may impact tribal land or historic sites deemed important to the tribe. This applies even if current tribal lands are located outside of the State.

Section 106, as it is often referred to, concerns impacts to properties listed in or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. Additional information can be found in 36 CFR Part 800 – Protection of Historic Properties.

The language used by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation can be summarized by, “... make a reasonable and good faith effort to identify and consult with any Indian tribes that attach religious and cultural significance to historic properties that may be affected by the undertaking.” The undertaking is a federally funded project.

Twenty-seven tribes were sent letters from the State Environmental Coordinator inquiring which Texas counties the tribe may have an interest in receiving project information letters. The replies were combined with data from the Texas Historic Commission’s web page to compile 13 different tribe’s “Areas of Interest Maps”. The number of tribes and map configurations will be updated as new information becomes available.

Environmental Reports should include contact letters to all the tribes which have indicated an interest in the county where the project is located. The counties are located on the maps within a highlighted red line. Some maps indicate the whole State, others show large blocks of counties, and others are scattered counties throughout the State. Projects may have as few as 2 or as many as 7 tribal letters to send out depending on their location.

Rural Development Loan Specialists for Community Facilities (CF) projects and consulting engineers for Rural Utilities Service (RUS) projects preparing the Environmental Reports should consult the “Areas of Interest Maps” and send project information letters to the addresses listed on the “Tribal Contacts for Section 106 Reviews” pages for projects with ground disturbance.

There are not many exceptions to the criteria for projects with ground disturbance, but some may exist. For example, federal funds spent on an interior rehab construction of an old building. This could potentially be a project for Section 106 tribal consultations if a tribe had something of significant occur there. CF projects for equipment like fire trucks present no need for Section 106.

The project information letters should include a complete project description, a general site location map, copies of a specific site plan or survey, and site photos if available. Reference the sample letter as a guide.

What an individual tribe is seeking in reviewing documents may be known only to them. Generally speaking, they are looking for high potential areas for ancestral burial sites or camp sites. Provide enough information for the tribe to make an informed decision from the desk review. Some tribes were relocated within the State before being moved again into Oklahoma. Some tribes traveled trails into Mexico. All areas of the State have potential sites of interest.

After the initial information letter, all Agency correspondence should originate at the Area Director level or above. If time allows, even the initial CF letter should be sent under the Area Director's signature. The information letter should explain if consultation is required it will be arranged and conducted by an Area Director. RUS consulting engineers should also be clear that they are acting on behalf of the Agency's administration for this initial contact.

Allow 30 days for a reply. If a tribe contacts the Agency, then react to the request. If they indicate that they would like consultation on the project, then inform the Area Director. RUS consulting engineers should contact the Agency immediately as to not delay the timeline of the overall Environmental Report. Agency consultations may take considerable amounts of time.

By law consultations must be "government to government". The reasons are historical in nature since tribes are recognized nations with treaties and agreements with the federal government. The Area Director should decide what action to take. It may be a request for additional information or a formal meeting. Document all consultations for the environmental file.

The National Office has recommended that all tribal correspondence be from the State Director or at a minimum the Program Directors. This is not practical when the Area Offices are familiar with projects weeks and sometime months before the State Office is aware of the scope of work. Because of the long lead times for environmental and the changing dynamics of the initial applications for funding, the most practical solution is to have the Area Offices and RUS consulting engineers develop the early contact project information letter. Some tribes may be sensitive to this.

Area Directors should evaluate what concerns are being expressed by the tribes' responses. If the Program Director or State Director needs to be involved, then coordinate that effort. Most consultations may just be information exchange. The Agency may also need to educate tribes about our programs. They may not be aware that many of our applicants are low income areas and have limited resources for extensive archeological surveys. Consultations may become negotiations.

The National Office has additional resources if required and there is a national level process to resolve disagreements. Many tribes are located out of State and the logistics of physical meetings will have to be considered. Reasonable issue solutions for the scale and cost of the project should be presented.

Recall that Section 106 concerns impacts to properties listed in or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. The highest potential for disagreement between the parties will center on if the property meets the criteria of eligibility or how to resolve the potential of undiscovered buried sites (the need for or extent of archeological surveys).

As the tribes and Agency become more familiar with each other over time, the consultation process may vary. Tribal contacts may change, areas of interest may change, or other changes occur which require the Agency's records to be updated. Contact the State Environmental Coordinator for additional information or to update tribal information.

RE: Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act
Bono Fire Station
Bono, Johnson County, Texas

Dear Mr. Arterberry:

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Development (RD) of Texas is a federal funding Agency for a variety of different Programs within the State of Texas. The Community Facilities Program has received an application for funding from the city of Bono for the construction of a new Fire Station. This letter is to inform your tribe of this undertaking. If interest is expressed, the Area Director will initiate consultation under Section 106.

The proposed project is located within the city of Bono on three lots currently owned by the city. Two lots have been mowed and maintained, but have never had any buildings. The third lot has an abandon gas station which will be torn down. A 20'-0" easement with a natural gas line crosses the back of all three properties. The surrounding neighborhood is residential on three sides with a few commercial businesses across 3rd Street.

The exact size of the fire station is currently being developed, but it is approximately 4,000 square feet with three truck bays. There are no properties within the city of Bono listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Reference the enclosed location map, site survey, and two site photos. Project drawings are not yet available.

Please provide USDA RD with any comments as soon as possible but no later than July 11, 2012. The Agency looks forward to hearing from you, if you have any questions or need any additional information, please contact me - phone: (xxx)xxx-xxx or email: aaa.bbb@tx.usda.gov .

Sincerely,

XXX XXX
Area Director
