§ 2033.2 Definitions.

Active Records. Active records can be either program or administrative in nature. Active program records include all communications and documents relating to loans and grants that have outstanding balances, unliquidated obligations, outstanding legal obligations, or are "cutoff". Active administrative records are those records used at least once per year or records of transactions not yet concluded.

Administrative Records. General correspondence and administrative files regarding the administrative functions of day-to-day operations and administrative functions regarding each program. Refer to the appropriate Records Retention Schedules referenced in Exhibit B of this Instruction for official retention requirements.

Agency Records Retention Schedule. Program Records Retention Schedules developed by RD program subject matter experts under the guidance of the RMB. The National Archives and Records Administrative (NARA) approves and provides the disposition authority.

Applicant. Any person or legally organized entity seeking RD program assistance through written or electronic application.

Archives and Records Centers Information System (ARCIS). ARCIS is the web-based IT system of the FRCs of NARA. The system is the online portal through which RD does business with the FRCs.

Block. One or more chronological segments of cutoff (i.e. closed) records that are in the same series and are dealt with as a unit for disposition purposes.

Case folder. The one or more file folders, envelope packets, mailing tubes, or other filing devices containing the total cumulative official records concerning an applicant/borrower. A case folder can also be a collection of electronic files maintained in the Electronic Customer Folder (ECF), or other database/data warehouse, or online application. If the records in the case folder originate in an electronic format, then the electronic file is considered the official file. Do not print electronically filed records to create a hard copy official record. All documents that require physical notarization must be kept in a hard copy format. The term case folder, throughout this instruction, covers both hard copy and electronic records.

(1) The initial case folder contains the records needed for routine underwriting, processing and servicing of borrower and grantee accounts.

(2) A continuation case folder is an additional folder begun when necessary to hold infrequently used records or to provide for an increased volume of material.

Charge-off. The writing off of a debt and termination of collection activity without release of personal liability.

Charge-out. When physical records are transferred from one office to another, a Records Transmittal and Receipt Inventory (spreadsheet) must be maintained showing location of the record. The spreadsheet should include the record name, where it was sent, date sent, and date returned (if temporarily transferred). If the record is not returned within 30 days, a follow-up must be conducted. Form RD 2033-2, "Charge-Out," is suggested, but not mandatory, to use as a place holder for the file shelf space, until the file is returned.

Closed Case Folder. One or more electronic or hard copy folder(s) for a loan or grant where an obligation no longer exists due to being classified as paid-in-full, or otherwise satisfied, and there is no unresolved legal action pending with RD.

Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI). Sensitive information that laws, Federal Regulations, or Federal Government-wide policies require or permit executive branch agencies to protect. The CUI Program was created by Executive Order 13556 and established standards and best practices built on existing agency policies and programs to replace the legacy of inconsistencies in safeguarding and handling sensitive information. CUI supersedes previous markings, including Sensitive but Unclassified (SBU) and Sensitive Security Information (SSI). Personally Identifiable Information (defined below) is a category of CUI.

Cutoff. The time when a record is no longer active because the grant or loan case folder is closed. The cutoff status "starts the clock" to satisfy the retention requirements, as set forth in the Records Retention Schedule, as approved by NARA.

Disposal Authority. Legal approval from NARA empowering a Federal Agency to dispose of eligible temporary records or transfer temporary records to the FRC and transfer the custody of permanent records to the National Archives.

Electronic Customer File (ECF). A cloud-based web application developed to provide robust document storage and retrieval for all RD program areas. ECF is a secure repository for RD electronic records that maintains administrative and program records resulting from documents that have been scanned or from established RD automated applications.

Electronic Records. Any record that is created, used, maintained, transmitted, or disposed of in electronic form. Such records may be stored in computer memory or removable media. Electronic records are also referred to as machine-readable records because they require machine processing for conversion to human-readable form. Examples of these types of records include those stored on magnetic tapes, disks and drums, video files, optical disks, external hard drives, Government issued cellular telephones, thumb drives, web servers, the Cloud or any other current or future technology.

Essential Records. Records that are needed to meet operational responsibilities under National Security emergencies or other emergency conditions (emergency operation records) or to protect the legal and financial rights of the Federal Government and those affected by government activities (legal and financial rights records).

Federal Records Center (FRC). A facility for the low-cost storage and servicing of paper records pending their disposal or transfer to the National Archives.

Field Office. Includes Area, Sub-Area, and Satellite offices.

File Break/File Cutoff. Breaking or ending files at regular intervals, usually at the close of a fiscal or calendar year, to permit their disposal or transfer in complete blocks and for correspondence files, to permit the establishment of new files. The cutoff can also be determined by an action or an event. Cutoff for borrower files would be when the loan and or grant is satisfied.

Filing System. A system that organizes records based on where the reporting requirement appears in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) or the RD Instruction system (if a regulation does not exist for that item). Each document is filed by the subject to which it relates and is based on the parts in the CFR or RD Instructions. These parts usually include the following parts/series: 1600, 1700, 1800, 1900, 2000, 3000, 4000 and 5000.

Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). A Federal law that allows for the full or partial disclosure of previously unreleased information and documents controlled by the United States Government. The FOIA defines Federal Agency records subject to disclosure, outlines mandatory disclosure procedures and grants nine exemptions to the statute for nondisclosure, see 5 U.S.C. § 552.

General Records Schedules (GRS). Records retention and disposal schedules developed and issued by NARA to provide disposition authority for records common to all Federal Agencies.

RD Instruction 2033-A Page 5 Effective Date: 11-22-23

Good Standing. Borrower account is in a non-delinquent status and the borrower is compliant with all required servicing actions.

Hard Copy. Media in a physical representation of information. Paper printouts, printer and facsimile ribbons, drums, and platen are all examples of hard copy media.

Historical Records. Documents that mark major decisions or significant events or transactions in a program, agency or the RD mission area, that aid in the understanding of the background or purpose of important decisions or agency actions, in the same way that legislative history informs legislation. Historical Records are a subset of Official Records.

Inactive Records. Records that are no longer required in the day-today operations of the office and therefore may be sent to an appropriate onsite records storage area, when applicable, or transferred to the FRC.

Litigation Hold. A process of freezing the disposition on all records, regardless of media, involved in litigation or foreseeable litigation. Records MUST be preserved in their native format for the duration of the litigation hold. When the case is settled and a release is received from the Office of General Counsel (OGC), the RMB will advise offices holding records involved so that arrangements can be made to apply the appropriate disposition. Some litigation hold records may become permanent records while others will be eligible for destruction at some point in time.

Naming Conventions. A systematical way to name files using standard terminology in a consistent and logical manner.

National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). A Federal Agency that holds permanent hard copy and electronic records and issues disposal authorities through the GRS for administrative records and through agency specific Records Retention Schedules for program records. NARA is also the facility where permanent records are located after being accessioned by an archival agency.

Non-record Material. Informational type material made or acquired for convenient reference purposes consisting of reader files, extra copies of documents, reference publications in the format of books, pamphlets, and factsheets, commercial advertising matter, rough drafts, personal papers, or any similar material maintained solely for the user's benefit. Official Records. Documents prepared, received, or processed which indicate the policies, procedures, decisions, and essential transactions in conducting RD business. Official records can be either hard copy or electronic.

Operational Files. Obsolete term. Refer to Administrative Records.

Personally Identifiable Information (PII). Information that can be used on its own or with other information to identify, contact, or locate a single person, or to identify an individual in context. Such information includes, but is not limited to, names, identification numbers, symbols, or other information assigned to an individual, as well as financial medical, criminal or, employment information. PII is a category of CUI, defined above.

Position Filing. A method of filing functionally related records in a predetermined position within a file folder, extended folders, or electronic filing system, if the file is large.

Recapture. Recapture policy requires borrowers to repay some, or all the subsidy received over the life of the loan or grant. A loan or grant is not considered paid in full for the purposes of calculating the cutoff until the recapture has been fully paid.

Recipient. Any legally organized borrower, grantee, or cooperator.

Records. Includes all books, papers, maps, photographs, machinereadable materials, or other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by an agency of the United States Government under Federal law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the Federal Government or because of the informational value of data in them.

Records Disposition. Removal and destruction as wastepaper or by shredding, deleting, or other suitable disposal methods of records of all media types, exceeding established retention periods. (Note: destruction methods must not compromise the confidentiality of information contained in the records.)

Records Inventory. The physical inventory, measured in cubic foot volume, of all official records maintained in an office. For electronic records, the saved data inventory is measured in bytes.

Records Management. The planning, controlling, directing, organizing, training, promoting, and other managerial activities involved with respect to records creation, records maintenance and use, and records disposition to achieve adequate and proper documentation of the policies and transactions of the Federal Government and effective and economical management of Agency operations.

Retention Period. The period which must elapse before records are destroyed by RD or FRC or transferred to NARA for historical purposes.

Security Instruments. The originals of any document or record which provide evidence of indebtedness or obligation to RD. Security instruments typically have original wet signatures and seals. Also called Debt Instruments.

Social Media. Electronic sources, such as but not limited to Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, Tumblr, YouTube, online blogs, forums, etc., which are used to publish/communicate information.

Table of Contents/Processing Checklist. These two terms are used interchangeably and refer to an optionally designed State Office index form used in (physical) borrower case folders to assist in identifying the exact location of a specific record. This information may be represented differently in electronic system applications.

Temporary Folder. A substitute folder placed in the hard copy files during the prolonged absence of a regularly maintained case folder to hold records accumulated during the interim period. (Note: Temporary folders should be frequently reviewed to preclude the loss or misplacement of the official case folder.)

(6) Public Access to Records. Procedures governing the availability of official records for public access and use are prescribed in RD Instructions 2018-F and 2015-E, as may be amended by FOIA case law and precedent.

(i) Employees are expected to be familiar with the restrictions of these Instructions in order to avoid violation of procedures.

(ii) Requested records must be retained until the request is fully processed even though the established retention requirements may have been met.

(7) Litigation Hold. Litigation Holds impose a freeze on all records involved. The records must be preserved in their native format and kept secure until the Litigation Hold is lifted by OGC. Records under litigation hold may be stored at FRCs or approved commercial storage facilities.

(8) Records Used Remotely. No hard copy official records are to leave the RD office of custody. All records should be accessed through the employee's work-issued laptop by LincPass or other current official Personal Identity Verification (PIV) method.

(9) Removing CUI from the workplace. In general, CUI, including PII, shall not be removed from a USDA workplace. The removal of CUI from the workplace or alternate worksite(s), regardless of the form, without prior written consent is strictly prohibited. In the rare event that an employee must remove CUI, programs shall ensure that:

(i) Written authorization from the RD manager, supervisor, designee, or other authorized Senior Official is received,

(ii) Audit logging of the extraction/removal of the CUI is well documented, and

(iii) All CUI must be transported in accordance with the PII physical transport guidance.

(10) Usage of personal devices and accounts for official business. Using a personal electronic device for official USDA business is strongly discouraged. If an employee creates Official Records on their personal device or with a non-USDA email account, these records must be sent to the employee's official email account within 20 days. See 44 U.S.C. 2911(a), Public Law 113-187, and NARA Bulletin 2015-02.

(d) Disposition Requirements.

(1) Determining Disposition. The approved designated Records Retention Schedule (separate Records Retention Schedule for each program and a General Records Retention Schedule for administrative type records) is used to determine whether a record is temporary or permanent; can be transferred to the FRC or destroyed; or whether the custody needs to be turned over to NARA (permanent records) for preservation. When a new program is created or an existing program is revised, the records created are considered permanent and disposition cannot be applied until they are scheduled.

(2) Annual Records Schedule Review and Rescheduling. Offices are encouraged to review their records schedules on an annual basis to ensure they are meeting their retention requirements. If offices need to change retention periods, modify records descriptions, or if the content and function of the records have changed, the records will need to be rescheduled with guidance and approval from the RD Records Officer.

(3) Annual Review of Inactive Records. At a minimum, it is mandatory that an annual records clean-up be conducted to maintain integrity of the records management program. These guidelines should be followed:

(i) Records eligible for disposition must be removed from active use status.

(ii) Records that are removed from active use status must be transferred to an FRC, stored in approved commercial storage facilities, or scanned.

(ii) Newly created records storage facilities and bulk records storage rooms are not permissible.

(iv) Existing inactive records storage spaces should be phased out and any records contained therein must be dispositioned.

(v) During the annual review, records that have met their retention requirements, and not subject to a litigation hold or active FOIA request, may be disposed of with RMB approval.

(vi) Supervisors responsible for official borrower case files shall ensure that all appropriate offices are notified prior to disposition.

(vii) Offices must scan inactive hard copy records or transfer them to the FRC or an approved commercial storage facility.

(4) Transfer of Records. To transfer hardcopy records to the FRC, they must be under an approved records retention schedule, not be subject to an active FOIA request, and must have at least one year of retention remaining.

(i) State, Area, and National Offices must coordinate the transfer process with their Records Custodian and RMB Records Liaison.

(ii) The office having custody of the records will submit a Box List to the Records Liaison using the RMB-approved template. The RMB Records Liaison will notify the Records Custodian when the FRC has approved the transfer.

(5) Retrieval of Transferred Records. Records may be retrieved from the FRC by submitting Records Retrieval Template to the Records Liaison in accordance with the Standard Operating Procedure Retrieve Records from the Federal Records Center.

(6) Disposal of Records. Official records may not be disposed of without prior written approval of the RMB Records Liaison. When an office determines that it has records which may be eligible for disposal, that office must submit a Disposition Application to the RMB Records Liaison using the approved template. The RMB Records Liaison will review the application, check for any litigation holds or FOIA/Privacy Act requests, and enter all records approved for disposal on the RMB's Disposition Log. Once an office receives approval for disposal, that office must ensure all eligible records are fully disposed of in a timely manner.

(i) Dispose of eligible hard copy records as trash, provided the records do not contain any CUI data, including PII. It is suggested to recycle when possible.

(ii) Dispose of records that contain CUI data, including PII, such as official borrower case folders. Offices must use a method which will ensure complete obliteration of such information, in accordance with the latest NIST guidelines. Offices should contact the RMB, RD Privacy Officer, and RD Chief Information Security Officer (for electronic records) to ensure compliance with the most current standards.

RD Instruction 2033-A Page 23 Effective Date: 11-22-23

(iii) For records stored at an FRC, the FRC will notify the RMB when records are eligible for disposal. The RMB will then seek concurrence from the office of primary responsibility.

(e) Central File Unit (CFU). The CFU is a temporary staging area that supports records management activities at the National Office in Washington, DC. Support is also provided to assist with scanning projects for all state and area offices nationwide. The primary CFU activities include sorting, filing, tracking inventory, scanning, and preparing records for shipment to NARA or an FRC.

General Records Schedules

The Archivist of the United States issues the General Records Schedules (GRS) to provide disposition authority for records common to several or all agencies of the Federal Government. These schedules authorize agencies, after specified periods of time, to either destroy temporary records or transfer permanent records to the National Archives of the United States (NARA).

The GRS is a living document and is continuously edited and refined.

The latest version of the GRS can be accessed on NARA's website at https://www.archives.gov/records-mgmt/grs.

If you have any questions about applying the GRS to your records, contact the RMB at RD.Records@usda.gov.

RD Records Retention Schedules (Records Control Schedules)

Records Retention Schedules (also known as Records Control Schedules) are developed by RD program subject matter experts and approved by NARA, which provides the disposition authority and stores the approved schedules on its site. These schedules authorize agencies, after specified periods of time, to either destroy temporary records or transfer permanent records to NARA.

RD's Records Control Schedules are periodically updated.

The RMB maintains condensed, user-friendly versions of the RD Records Retention Schedules on its SharePoint site at https://usdagcc.sharepoint.com/sites/RD-BC-EO-RIMD

The official versions of each RD Records Retention Schedule can be found by searching NARA's website: https://www.archives.gov/records- mgmt/rcs/schedules/index.html?dir=/departments/department-of-agriculture

If you have any questions about applying the RD Records Retention Schedules to your records, contact the RMB at RD.Records@usda.gov.
