KS	Roger Marshall, Jerry Moran	Tracey Mann (01)	City of Alma	$1,173,700	$303,300	This Rural Development investment will be used to replace portions of the existing gas supply line that runs along Kansas Highway 99 between the city of Wamego and Interstate 70. The city's current gas system has been in place since 1960. Their current distribution system is in good working order and being properly maintained. There are several segments of the current system that are in good shape and no repairs or replacements will be made at this time. But there have been multiple leaks found in the gas feeder lines. These leaks have occurred due to corrosion. The corrosion is severe enough that it has occurred throughout the entire steel gas feeder line and is getting worse and will continue to get worse if nothing is done. To complete this project the City has acquired grant funds from the Kansas Department of Commerce in the form of a Community Development Block Grant. When the project is completed the city will have a safe and reliable means of getting natural gas to rural residents of their community and the surrounding area.

This new truck is a diesel, automatic transmission with twice the equipment storage capacity as the current truck. It is Foam-ready, which will expand the types of fires the department can handle. The city's current pumper truck is 27 years old. Yearly maintenance costs for the truck motor and firefighting pump are increasing every year. The cab is not designed for firefighters in gear to ride to a call, which causes a slower response once on scene, as they must put on their gear. The current truck lacks safety restraints for some riders.

MN	Amy Klobuchar, Tina Smith	Michelle Fischbach (07)	City of Porter	$23,500	$39,000	This Rural Development investment will be used to purchase protective equipment for the fire department in Porter. The Porter Fire Department has 27 volunteer firefighters, including 16 who are also trained as First Responders. La Plata maintains its own streets, electric, water, and sewer and having a reliable track loader is necessary for employees to keep those departments running properly.
